MALAYSIAN TIGER SPECIES MAY GO EXTINCT

KUALA LUMPUR: The Malayan tiger species is likely to be extinct in the next five to 10 years if no drastic measures are taken to protect the animal, said Water, Land and Natural Resources Minister Dr Xavier Jayakumar. He said the Malayan tiger population was at a worrying level, with fewer than 200 left according to the First National Tiger Survey conducted from 2016 to 2018. "The actual population of Malayan tigers will be known once the survey is completed in 2020," he said.
