Male sun bear captured in Kelantan village

GUA MUSANG: The state Wildlife Department has captured a sun bear, which is believed to have destroyed coconut trees in Felda Perasu here two months ago. The department said the male sun bear was captured in the village on Tuesday. It added that the department had been receiving reports from villagers on the sun bear since June. "The department then set a trap for the animal. The sun bear left its Gunung Rabong forest reserve habitat to search for food." The sun bear has been relocated to the Terengganu National Park on Wednesday. The villagers were told to instal mobile electric fences to prevent wild animals from entering the village. However, the installation of such fences must get the department's approval.
