Panda cub continues to grab attention

mm 20/6/18 M 11

IT continues to be a sight to behold much to the delight of visitors at the panda conservation centre at Zoo Negara. The Hari Raya holidays over the weekend, which coincided with the school holidays, saw both young and old alike making their way to the glassed enclosure to view the fluffy panda cub. The baby panda, the second born to Liang Liang and Xing Xing, first made her public appearance last month. Liang Liang and Xing Xing are on a 10-year loan from China and have been in Malaysia since 2014. The cub's sister Nuan Nuan was born in August 2015 and was sent to China last November as part of a conservation agreement which states that cubs born in captivity must be returned to their homeland once they reach the age of two. The births of the cubs were a rare success story for natural reproduction among giant pandas.
